Taibei : 2013. 328 p.. Paperback

The short stories in this brilliant collection show Munro coming home to southwestern Ontario, with Toronto looming on the horizon. The range of storytellers is astonishing, as we hear the young voices of women recalling their teenage years and the equally convincing voice of an old woman fighting Alzheimer's. Munro admirers will see that these stories are shorter than many in her recent collections, but they have all the sharpness, accessibility, and power of her earlier work, and they are - as always - full of "real" people. Munro is, of course, the Nobel Laureate of Literature 2013.
